MESSAGE FROM MARSHAL ANTONIO JOHNSON

“As we enter 2013, we are celebrating 100 years of service and we realize that there is still more work to be done.”

As Marshal of this great county I am excited about the path my agency has taken towards the betterment of services provided to our citizens. Each year I set goals and objectives for the department to reach and each year I am proud to say each year these goals are met and often exceeded, including this year.

In 2012, we were able to achieve our 6th successful C.A.L.E.A. re-accreditation, unveil our centennial badges, complete several technology upgrades, promote deserving staff, conduct real world firearms training, and implement departmental cross training and development for sworn and civilian staff.

We were also able to participate in the first annual “Georgia Marshal Training Network” where all four full-service Marshal Departments were able to train under the theme of “Working Together, Accomplishing Great Things.”

The Marshal’s Department has the unique and awesome responsibility of not only protecting and serving the citizens of Fulton County, but we are also accountable for enforcing orders of the Court. This responsibility cannot be taken lightly. I take pride in the outstanding employees that work within the Marshal’s Department. I realize without them the goals and the mission of this agency would not be accomplished.

Although the department has achieved outstanding accomplishments in 2012, we will not rest on our laurels. As we enter 2013, we are celebrating 100 years of service and we realize that there is still more work to be done. We will continue to focus on providing services in a responsible, efficient and cost effective manner and strive to provide the citizens of this county with even better service.

Sincerely,

 Marshal Antonio Johnson

COMMISSION ON ACCREDITATION FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCIES

Agencies. This Commission outlines “best practices standards” that law enforcement agencies must meet before being awarded accreditation. This is a proven management model that promotes efficient use of resources and improves service delivery. The department was initially accredited in 1997 under the leadership of Marshal Hazelene Jenkins. The department must be reassessed every three years to maintain accreditation.

On April 16 – 19, 2012 an on-site visit was completed and the department received its 6th successful reaccreditation at the 2012 C.A.L.E.A. Conference in Scottsdale, AZ in July 2012.

The purpose of C.A.L.E.A’s Accreditation Program is to improve the delivery of public safety services, primarily by maintaining a body of standards developed by public safety practitioners covering a wide range of up-to-date public safety initiatives; establishing and administering an accreditation process; and recognizing professional excellence. This accreditation program provides law enforcement agencies an opportunity to voluntarily demonstrate that they meet an established set of professional standards.

The CALEA Manager/Accreditation Team performs planning and research functions’ and manages the written directives for the department. The team is charged with maintaining compliance with the stringent accreditation standards set by the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement

For more information on CALEA and their meticulous standards, go to: www.calea.org

CENTENNIAL BADGE CEREMONY

On June 12, 2012 we unveiled our Centennial Badge, a gold 8-point star bearing the state insignia with a mourning band encircled by silver bearing the department name, three stars on each side and the motto "One Century of Service: 1913-2013". In commemoration of our centennial year of service, the previous badge that had been worn for nearly two decades by all sworn personnel has been replaced by the newly designed centennial badge. The badge design can be credited to Sgt. K. Buck. The department intends to incorporate the new design into official documents and onto departmental vehicles.

As part of the ceremony all sworn personnel were re-sworn to the oath of office by Chief Judge Patsy Porter.

"I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute all writs, warrants, precepts, summons and other legal papers directed to Constables and Marshals of the Courts of this State, or directed to any other officers of this State, that I can lawfully execute, and true returns make and in all things well and truly, without malice or partiality, perform the duties of the office of Deputy Marshal of the State Court of Fulton County and the office of Deputy Constable of the Magistrate Court of Fulton County, during my continuance therein.

I do further solemnly swear or affirm that I am not the holder of any public money due this State or this County, a political subdivision, or government authority, unaccounted for, and that I am otherwise qualified to hold said office according to the Constitution of the United States of America, the Laws of the State of Georgia and Fulton County. I will support the Constitution of the United States of America. I will enforce and abide by all orders, regulations, directives, laws, edicts and ordinances enacted by Fulton County, the Fulton County Marshal's Department, the State of Georgia and the Government of the United States of America."
