Approves Property

Tax Cut of 10.9%

At Wednesday's Fulton County Commissioner's meeting, I presented a proposal to decrease the 2015 general fund property tax millage rate by 10.9%. I'm pleased to report that my colleagues on the Board voted to approve my motion which results in a 10.5 millage tax rate for 2015. This is a significant reduction from the 2014 millage rate of 11.781.

I'm extremely pleased that my colleagues on the Board of Commissioners, in a 5-2 vote, have come together to endorse and approve this meaningful decrease in the 2015 millage rate. This reduction is a result of significant improvements in the structure and operations of Fulton County since January. It has been a total team effort, and I am proud of the new tone of our Board of Commissioners and the collaborative synergy that has been developed during the past six months.

The new reduced property tax rate will be reflected in the Fulton County portion of tax bills that will be distributed in August with payment due October 15th.

Although the 2015 millage rate has declined, property values have generally increased and it is possible that your assessment may have risen. If you disagree with your assessed value, you may want to consider filing an appeal with the County. The details on the appeal process can be found on line at www.fultonassessor.org. The appeal deadline is July 20th.

I remain committed to achieving additional cost savings and efficiencies while continuing to improve service to constituents.

Thank you again for your support, and I very much appreciate representing District 2 on the Fulton County Board of Commissioners.
